

Words Unspoken

This image is about all the things we don't and can't say, and how it almost feels like we're drowning in them. I shot this image in a kiddie pool (I love kiddie pools) that I filled with water, milk, and also some flour to thicken it a little.